Student Research

A research opportunity open to all residential, undergraduate UF students

The Civic Scholars program of the Bob Graham Center for Public Service offers University of Florida undergraduates an opportunity to gain research and public service experience on key issues facing Florida. The Spring 2020 Scholars will research climate change impacts and preparedness in Florida’s 67 counties. Your work will help build a new public portal, Barometer Florida, to help track progress on this and other challenges facing our state. Upon completion of all program requirements, each student will receive a $500 stipend—along with an important undergraduate research experience.

This year’s topic is CLIMATE CHANGE -and- COMMUNITY

The Details

Read about the program at bobgrahamcenter.ufl.edu or email Cynthia Barnett, clbarnett@jou.ufl.edu.

Please apply only if you can fulfill the program’s obligations, including in-person interviews in your assigned county, outside of Gainesville. If you receive need-based financial aid or student loans, check with the UF Office of Student Financial Affairs to determine the stipend’s impact on your aid package. You will not receive a check; the stipend will be distributed directly through the financial affairs office.
